■ Key features for 2020

Quarterly brochures

We are now producing updated brochures on a quarterly basis.

As well as announcing the latest webinar broadcast dates for the upcoming quarter, these brochures spotlight the most popular content from the preceding one, making it easier for you to plan your training activity.

Webinar Briefs

We have been expanding our Webinar Briefs programme in 2020, running 10-minute webinars for all of our practice areas throughout the year. For those days when you simply cannot find a spare hour to watch a full webinar, our Webinar Briefs condense cutting edge legal topics into readily accessible ten-minute videos.

Webinar Briefs are being broadcast throughout the year. Be sure to check www.lexiswebinars.co.uk/legal/webinar-briefs for updates on broadcast dates and topics or sign up to our monthly newsletter by emailing webinars@lexisnexis.co.uk.

Extended broadcast availability

Our webinars are available to watch for 24 months after their broadcast date, giving you longer to review or refer back to a topic. For more information on webinar subscriptions, please see the final page.

| In case you missed...

In case you missed them, here are a few highlights from our Q2 webinar programme that you can view on demand.

Execution of documents: pitfalls and best practice (2020) (Commercial Law)

This webinar provides a master class on the execution of documents, exploring some of the pitfalls that might face an unwary practitioner, and considering the optimal approaches in a number of key areas. It was presented by Lucinda Robinson of Fenwick Elliott and Dominic Sedghi of Macfarlanes.

(Brief) Force majeure – emergence from lockdown (2020) (Commercial Law)

In this short webinar commercial law experts Fiona Teague and Jonathan Smart of Shoosmiths talk about contractual issues for companies as we emerge from lockdown. In particular, they examine whether the performance of obligations must now be resumed, and if so, when and to what extent.

In case you missed...

Update on the law of cohabitants (2020) (Family Law)

Family law experts Kerry Fretwell of Penningtons Manches Cooper and Simon Bruce of Farrer & Co look at the latest in the law relating to cohabiting couples, including cohabitation agreements, non-disclosure agreements, Schedule one applications, TOLATA applications, law reform and a comparison of the law in other jurisdictions.

Restructuring during COVID-19 (2020) (Banking and Financial Services)

A team of expert speakers from Loyens & Loeff in Brussels discuss the insights and roles of banks and borrowers in their legal context while touching upon the use of COVID-19 support schemes in an international or Belgian restructuring. They consider how to survive, recover and build for the future.

| In case you missed...

Cloud Computing (2020) (TMT)

In this webinar, TMT specialists Sam de Silva of CMS and Jon Bartley of RPC discuss the latest in cloud computing, with a focus on key commercial and legal issues, and data protection.

COVID-19 and the energy sector (2020) (Construction)

Presented by an expert multinational panel from Herbert Smith Freehills this webinar explores the impact of COVID-19 on the energy sectors in the key European markets of the UK, France, Germany, Italy and Spain. Topics discussed include: consumers, generation and renewable projects, contractors and offtakers and investors.

Coronavirus (COVID-19)

Following government guidance on social distancing and to ensure the safety of our presenters and staff, we have closed our studio facilities in central London.

However, we are continuing to deliver our webinar programme using a new system that enables us to record our content remotely.

Additionally, we are developing a series of webinars analysing the challenging legal issues created by the pandemic. Details of the first seven of these are listed below:
